To [illegible] [illegible] Conference south [illegible] Republicans, southern Unionists and southern Whigs the following expressed their wishes and what is best in their judgment to be done The new era expected by the inaugural [illegible] of Gov Hayes has already created great harmony between the aforementioned elements They greatly desire to non sectionalize the party politics and remove the bitterness and jealousies of races in the south as foreshadowed in Hayes letter of acceptance In order to effect this it is necessary to have a complete change in cabinet officers thereby giving confidence to the people that this new and glorious departure to reconcile and harmonize is not to be engineered and directed by those who have failed in the past The natural [illegible] elements of the south by political educational and party creed are the old line Whigs and Jackson Democrats From these elements we are to day deriving substantial aid and by a wise policy they will be with us in the future It is thought that from this element it would be wise and proper to make a cabinet of counsellors from the south and southwest

THE BOY QUESTION

[From the Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat

The Rev Thomas K Beecher has propounded a conundrum in Elmira and the philanthropists are struggling with it It opened the whole question of unskilled labor and set people to thinking of the employment of boys just verging into manhood at some labor that would give them a chance in the world. The boys of sixteen or eighteen years running at large [illegible] in a city are in good training for mischief [illegible] for there is no thing apparently for them to do The apprentice system keeps most of them out of the trades and they dread to betake themselves to the farms and the farmers seem to dread them and they [illegible] The city idler does not readily become a tractable [illegible] unless he is possessed of great good sense and is determined to achieve something in some direction and wants to work and learn above all things Boys of this kind are not numerous The majority of idlers poison their minds with horrible literature and are unfit for the life of a farm To them the farm is dull and prosy If it were possible to make our idlers love the fields and woods and by kindness hold them from employing their energies wastefully, much good would be accomplished This question of employing boys has been discussed so much in Elmira that the boys are beginning to look into it and there is an awakening desire to learn something from kind teachers on the surrounding farms It is good to discuss these questions The boys will be benefited by it. Hints and suggestions will be given that must aid many a boy in adopting some plan by which he can learn useful lessons in getting a living How to employ the surplus energies of hand and brain is the most pressing question Prosperity will increase as the idlers decrease The cry for silver and greenbacks is but a short sighted expedient It is not the way out of the difficulty Silver and greenbacks have to be earned and when earned must go to lift the burden caused by idleness If the idle can be employed all can earn money and the waste will be lessened

How to Make Cows Give Milk

A writer in the [illegible] Farmer says that his cow gives all the milk that is wanted in a family of eight and that from it after taking all that is required for other purposes 260 pounds of butter were made this year It is in part his treatment of the cow If you desire to get a large yield of rich milk give your cow every day water slightly warm and slightly salted in which bran has been stirred at the rate of one quart to two gallons of water You will find if you have not tried this daily practice, that your cow will give 25 per cent more milk immediately under the effects of it, and she will become so attached to the diet as to refuse to drink clear water unless very thirsty But this mess she will drink almost any time and ask for more The amount of this drink necessary is an ordinary water pailful at a time, morning, noon and evening

Among the Indians who came in from the reservation a short time since after supplies was old Schonchin the [illegible] hereditary chief of all the Modocs The old man was a terror to the whites in the early Modoc wars but since the time he made his mark to the treaty of 1864 he [illegible] [illegible]

MEN AND MACHINERY

At a [illegible] social science convention held recently at [illegible] a paper was read which presented an argument designed to show that the displacement of manual labor by machinery has resulted in [illegible] degradation of the condition of laborers. The process of [illegible] labor-saving tools and machinery were denounced as [illegible] conclusive to the convention. But it had to be admitted that the methods and machines which it was alleged oppress and degrade labor could not now be suppressed or destroyed. But these theorists proved themselves not more wise than the English mobs which about the beginning of this century destroyed labor-saving machines, for they proposed to restore workingmen to the happy state by cutting short the hours of work by national legislation. Five hours a day was stated as the maximum. Of course it does not enter the minds of these philosophers that there would be some doubt and difficulty about getting ten hours pay for five hours labor. It does not occur to them that an act of legislation can make a trader sell a dollar's worth of food or clothing for fifty cents just as readily as it could compel an employer to pay a dollar for fifty cents worth of labor.

The spread of intelligence ought by this time to be general enough to stop the outcry against labor saving machinery. The theory on which this outcry is based, namely that the amount of work is limited, is ridiculously false. Every great labor saving invention opens new methods of labor. Twenty five years ago it was declared that in consequence of the rapid construction of railroads it would soon cease to be profitable to breed horses, and a great and valuable interest would be destroyed. But who does not know that railroads have increased the work for horses? Take agricultural machinery. By cheapening production it increases consumption among the masses, and supplies enormous surplus for export. And again, the work created by manufacturing agricultural machinery is in itself immense. The same holds good in every line of labor-saving machinery.

Just after the close of the great wars with Napoleon there was distress among the laboring classes of England, and this cry was raised that employment could not be had because machinery was coming into use. So in 1816 hand corn mills were recommended for the employment of the poor, to supersede the labor of the miller, and men and women were actively employed to shell beans and barley in the field, to supersede the more efficient labor of the thresher. There were numerous other mistakes of benevolence and economy which, as Miss Martineau remarks in dealing with the history of the time, "would be matters of ridicule if they were not so awful in their delusions." Sixty years ago it was proposed to light London with gas, but the company which wished to undertake it were first derided as fools and afterwards treated as rapacious monopolists, intent upon the ruin of established industry. When the charter was sought from parliament a noble lord declared that the company "aimed at a monopoly which would ultimately prove injurious to the public, and ruin that most important branch of trade, our whale fishing," and an alderman of London contended that the measure would ruin "the hardy race of men employed in the whale fisheries, in which millions of money and above a hundred ships were engaged," and besides, it would "throw out of employment above ten thousand seamen, and above ten thousand rope makers, sail makers, and others connected with that trade." At every step of scientific discovery which promises to impart new benefits to mankind, however uncertain and unquestionable be the benefit, we are called upon to maintain the ancient state of things, amidst the terrible denunciations of ruin to some great interest or other. The ruin that gaslight and railways were to produce are pretty fair examples of the ruin that has gone on, and is still going on. Machinery now makes shoes that until within a few years were made altogether by hand, but the supply of shoes is increased, prices are reduced, and there is vastly increased call for production of materials of which shoes are made.

The demagogue in congress is busy again with schemes to compel employers of labor to pay more than market rates, for this is what every attempt to enforce an eight-hour law by legislation comes to. But prices follow their own general law, and wages with the rest. The man who expects to accomplish much in the world will not do it by depending on government to make short hours for him. If he wishes to succeed, he must work as many hours as he possibly can. He needs the longest, not the shortest day. For let it be observed that the only class of workingmen are not those who hire out their manual labor to the employers. There is a far greater class who work on their own account, depending on their own skill, management and enterprise, rather than on wages. This greatly larger class, some of them working with mental forces only, and others with combination of brain and brawn, do not ask government for a law to limit them to five or eight hours a day and could not follow such law if they had it. An erroneous notion is prevalent that the only workingman is he who works with his hands. But the most exhausting labor is that which requires severe exercise of the intellectual powers, the hardest work is performed by those whom it is not usual to recognize as workingmen at all.

Every effort to better the condition of workingmen by reducing the hours of labor from ten to five or eight will fail because employers have the matter in their own hands and cannot afford to pay full wages for the shorter time. The proposition to cut short the hours of work by national legislation, as a means of helping the working class, will, from the very nature and conditions of those economical principles which regulate industry and trade, prove a delusion not less certainly than did those attempts to favor the working class of England by destroying or stopping labor saving machinery and setting men and women to grind corn and mix [illegible] by hand. Benefit for our workmen will be found not in cutting down production or raising its cost, but in precisely the opposite policy. Productiveness of machinery does not turn men out of employment [illegible] [illegible] multitudes it should be needless [illegible] falls so continually [illegible] attentive observation.

THE KEY LETTER

Stephens' proposition [illegible] the Potter resolution was seconded by a very vigorous letter written by Ex-Postmaster General Key. It is in the form of an open letter to the people of the south. The writer opens with the statement that the circumstances attending the passage of the Potter resolution furnish evidence that [illegible] the majority [illegible] [illegible] Hayes [illegible] [illegible] the electoral commission [illegible] [illegible] the leaders in this [illegible] [illegible] of representatives [illegible] [illegible] he urges the [illegible] the south [illegible] the future. The south he declares must now face the most momentous crisis in its history [illegible] and in order to defeat the disturbers of the public peace he advises the people to act as far as they may be able independently of the Democratic party. To this end he says the people in every district should meet publicly, organize and resolve to support no person for congress who has given aid to this movement. He asks the people of the south to take note of the fact that recent events have demonstrated the inability of many of these members to resist the magnates of the caucus and the terrors of the party lash, the one wielded and the other inspired by men who seem willing to endanger the welfare of the country and the stability of republican institutions for the sake of revenge on political opponents and in the hope of dividing the spoils of victory. The letter closes thus:

Invited to the cabinet as a southern man to see that justice was done to the south required neither to apologize for any record nor to disown my political principles, it is my duty now to warn the people of the south of the danger which threatens the country. No man need hope that the actions of the men who have engineered the movement to unseat President Hayes can be carried out without a bloody civil war. To avert this danger I confidently rely on the patriotism and honor of the people of my native section.

Some months ago Gen. Dick Taylor of confederate fame published an article in which he stated that Gen. Grant undertook the Wilderness campaign against his own judgment and in doing so needlessly sacrificed one hundred thousand lives. Grant, who has been interviewed on the subject by a correspondent of the New York Herald, says:

Gen. Taylor says the story comes to him well authenticated, and he has no doubt of its correctness. There are only three persons who could authenticate such a story—Mr. Lincoln, Mr. Stanton and myself. Lincoln and Stanton are dead and I say the whole story is a fabrication and whoever vouched for it to Gen. Taylor vouched for a fiction.

Scenery in the Blue Mountains

[From the Grant County Times.]

For grandeur and scenic beauty, portions of the Blue mountains surpass even the boasted scenery of the Sierras or Columbia river. To the lover of nature they are interesting—even sublime. The scenery in some of these mountain ranges is the most weird and wildly suggestive of primitive beauty we ever saw. The mountains, many of which rise to almost conical peaks in shape, the deep and reverberating canyon beneath, thickly studded with tall and slender pines, the dashing stream that ripples through the canyon, filled with speckled trout which haunt its cool snow-fed waters, the deer gracefully quaffing the thirst-quenching liquid, then bounding away to browse in the labyrinth of foliage that surrounds the canyon—all form a natural picture. Away up in the mountains where the canyons narrow, are found miniature lakes clear as crystal itself, around whose placid waters the mountain grouse and wood ducks love to stay and, on the margin of whose banks the stealthy bear and wily cougar leave the imprint of their feet.

Parallel Military Conditions

Referring to the apparent determination of the British parliament to utilize the native East Indian troops in case of war without regard to sentimental objections, the New York Bulletin says:

Military critics unite in the opinion that it was a fatal blunder on the part of the confederates in the American rebellion not to put their African population into the army at the start in order to save their white soldiery, and that the Union cause was aided immensely by the better judgment which saw in those dusky millions a fighting material. The criticism was a sound one and laying aside the peril to constitutional liberty as wholly imaginary one cannot resist the conclusion that Englishmen would do well to profit by it in the event of the worst coming to the worst.

WILLAMETTE ENGINE CO. NO. 1.

THE ORGANIZATION AND EARLY HISTORY OF THE COMPANY.

At 3 o'clock to-day the Grand Lodge of A. F. & A. M. will lay the corner stone for the new house to be constructed for Willamette Engine Co. No. 1, the first fire company organized in Oregon. As this company is the oldest and has always been one of the most efficient in the city, a brief review of its active life may not be out of place here. A few of those who met August 2, 1853, and organized this company are still in the land of the living, [illegible] years ago crossed over to join the great majority. The founders of the com- pany were David Monastes, J. H. Egan, Nelson Hoyt, Fred Harbaugh, E. J. Northrup, H. Seymour, R. M. Ford, C. E. Brady, [illegible] Williams and S. D. Smith. Nelson Hoyt was first foreman, D. Monas- tes 1st assistant and Asa Strong 2d assistant.

In 1857 a house was erected for the company on Yamhill street between First and Second, and was occupied by them until 1868 when their present quarters were finished and the company, with their old hand engine, moved into it.

A few months ago the common council deter- mined to build a new house for this old company, and passed an ordinance appropriating $[illegible] there- for. Under the supervision of the committee on fire and water of the council consisting of W. H. Andrus, [illegible] and E. J. W. Stemme, the contract for erect- ing the building was let to R. Porter, the well known contractor, and he began the work about the middle of last month. The company also has a building committee who advise with the com- mittee of the common council and the architect, Mr. Williams, in regard to the construction of the house. The committee on part of the company con- sists of A. W. Witherell, J. B. Lyon, M. F. Spencer, J. L. Davidson and S. A. Moreland.

The company at this time consists of [illegible] members, as follows:

Albee, Chas	Eppinger, W L	Prindle, C W

Algeo, W J	Friedman, A	Riehet, F

The officers are: S. A. Moreland, president; sec- retary, John O'Connor; treasurer, W. H. Andrus. Members of the board of delegates, S. A. Moreland, J. Simon and A. W. Witherell. Foreman, W. S. Chapman; 1st assistant, A. R. Church; 2d assist- ant, W. J. Bowden.

Since the company was furnished with a steam engine, W. T. Everson has most efficiently filled the position of engineer, in which duties he has been ably seconded by T. A. Clarke.

The company has some reason to be proud of its record, and the citizens of Portland generally are gratified at its prosperity. In hundreds of con- flicts with the flames it has saved the city many times its cost, and the members feel gratified for the support which they have, and the appreciation shown for their labors, so freely given, and will in the future, as in the past, strive to make the com- pany strong and efficient.

THE CEREMONY TO DAY

of laying the corner stone will be conducted by the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons with the impressive rites of that honorable order. The department, under the control of Chief Engineer H. Morgan, will also attend in uniform and the board of delegates as a body. The Grand Lodge will move from Masonic Temple to the site of the new building at 3 o'clock, and the ceremonies will take place immediately on arrival. A large number of invitations have been issued to parties throughout the state to be present, and the public at large in Portland will be on hand.

PARLOR LECTURE.

At the private residence of Mr. H. Thielsen, cor- ner East Park and Clay street, a select company of lovers of art assembled last evening to listen to a lecture on Thorwaldsen, the greatest sculptor since the days of Phidias, by Miss Maria Solier.

The lecturer, though suffering from a severe cold, fulfilled her engagement. From the opening sen- tence to the close, she held the undiminished in- terest of her auditors. With a very strong national accent, it seemed necessary at first to give close at- tention, so as not to miss occasional words, but as she proceeded, her charming artlessness of man- ner, the artistic simplicity of her composition, the purity of her diction and her manifest familiarity with, and choice of, the strong Saxonisms peculiar to the best English writers, wove a spell of influ- ence that made it a joy to listen, heightened by an assured expectancy that each succeeding sentence would not fail to sustain the growing interest awakened by the subject, in its beautiful setting, and by the speaker in the wonderful vocabulary of which she is the possessor. We cannot do justice to either within the limits of this brief notice. The lady has (we learn accidentally) another lecture on Denmark and Danes,—their manners and cus- toms, that she would consent to deliver to the people of Portland, if desired, and we recommend those who failed to hear this interesting speaker should invite her to deliver that, or to repeat the meritorious address to which we listened last night. We understand that Mrs. Bishop Morris has kindly proposed the use of St. Helen's hall lecture room for the lovers of art unitedly move in this matter. Much additional interest was added to the enter- tainment by Rev. T. L. Eliot. By the use of his sciopticon many beautiful illustrations were thrown on the canvass with good effect, whereby the audience were enabled to approximate to a re- alization of the beauty, the purity, and the perfec- tion of Thorwaldsen's sculpture as selections from the 500 specimens contained in the museum at Copenhagen were presented to our eyes,—such as Jason, Ganymede, the Three Graces, etc., etc.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

John O'Connor, the well known grocer, is at home again in the old stand and will welcome old customers.

P. Selling is making a specialty in parasols, which are offered at various figures and the lowest in the city. New line of dress goods and other articles too numerous to mention.

Fleckenstein & Mayer are in receipt of a large importation of "Weiser Export Bier," which they are prepared to offer to the trade at lowest possible figures. The beer is regarded as superior to any made in the world.

Lewis & Strauss, of the White House, are clear- ing out various lines preparatory to opening of new goods. This will enable the trade and local patrons to purchase at advantage. Those interested will give the subject their immediate attention.

IMPORTANT SALE OF PIANOS, ETC.—Mr. G. R. Ham- ilton has concluded to close out his business in Portland and return to San Francisco, and has authorized Messrs. Creighton & Stearns, the auc- tioneers, to sell without reserve to the highest bid- ders the whole of his large stock of pianos, organs, music, etc., on Thursday, the 13th of this month. Such an opportunity is rarely offered the public for buying new and guaranteed instruments under the hammer. The sale begins at 10 o'clock Thurs- day morning, at Mr. Hamilton's store on First street.

How to Get Rid of Rats.

SALEM, June 10, 1878.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Tell your subscriber who wants information as to a proper method of killing rats to mix a hand- ful of finely pulverized plaster of Paris with double the quantity of dry flour, and put it where the rats can get at it, taking care to place water near by. In a short time it will kill all rats that eat of it. The plaster becomes hard in their in- testines, and the result is always fatal. S.

To the Suffering People of Oregon & W. T.

The cures which have been effected by Doctor Souville Mathieu, the eminent French Physician, with his celebrated Paris Spirometer, have proved a wonderful blessing to mankind and a credit to the Dr., as its inventor, in every case of nasal Ca- tarrh, Lung and Bronchial affections and all dis- eases arising from impurities of the blood. It will effect a complete and speedy cure by conveying medicated inhalations direct to the seat of the dis- ease, which is the only way by which these diseases can be cured. Parents especially should never be without one of these invaluable instruments, for on administering them twice a day your children will never have diphtheria or any disease aris- ing from poison in the blood, but will grow up healthy and strong. The Paris Spirometer will be sold at the remarkably low price of $25, which will in- clude all medicines and complete directions, and will be sent to any address on receipt of the money by letter or express to DR. SOUVILLE MATHIEU, at Charles Hotel, Portland, Oregon.

Office hours, 10 to 12 M., and 2 to 4 P. M. Consul- tation free. The doctor's medical certificate ap- proved by the state medical board of California, San Francisco, Dec 17th, 1876, and recorded in the office of the county clerk of San Francisco, Jan. 13th, 1877, by Thomas H. Reynolds, county clerk, can be seen by any one at the doctor's office.

An Astonishing Fact.

A large proportion of the American people are to day dying from the effects of Dyspepsia or dis- ordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden, in- stead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness, as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside preju- dice and skepticism, take the advice of druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flower. Your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory re- sults in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for 10 cents to try. Three doses will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all Druggists on the Western Continent.

I make no empty boasts. I mean business. Competition a folly. Great Reduction. 20 per cent. below recent rates. Cassimere suits, $7 to $15 00. Worsted suits, latest styles, $15 to $23. GRANT FOR PRESIDENT

IF [illegible] HAYES [illegible] GENERAL GRANT MAY BE [illegible] — A DEMOCRATIC [illegible] THE [illegible]

Correspondence [illegible] Cincinnati [illegible]

WASHINGTON May 23 [illegible] party is drifting [illegible] for 1880 [illegible] bold steady [illegible] Grant is known to be [illegible] coward [illegible] is living and in the [illegible] ident who has [illegible] three [illegible] has nothing [illegible] of [illegible] who [illegible] the presidency except Tilden [illegible] leave the [illegible] never the [illegible] way [illegible] whisper in the [illegible] ear

O how foolish [illegible] this reopening of the presidential question which will discourage for fifty years [illegible] respectable endeavors to discipline the politicians Hayes is [illegible] man for he was a [illegible] and [illegible] his blood Yet the whole tendency of [illegible] period is to take the [illegible] and leave him a broken monument [illegible] ing presidents not to [illegible] Powerful are they who plunder battle field The renomination of Grant would have been impossible had the government drifted into the [illegible] Hayes was in troducing [illegible] Grant arises above [illegible] is then [illegible] Grant is a portentous thing [illegible] brother of this mischievous [illegible] Montgomery Blair once predicted that Grant would have to be be taken out of the White House feet foremost if they got him out at all Such a candidate at the end of a military campaign which would again shake this country with the name of every battlefield of the rebellion might be defeated But would he accept defeat any more than Samuel J Tilden has accepted it? He is the only man who might revolutionize the country It was Iglesias in Mexico who refused to accept Lerdo for president, and the military band of Porfirio Diaz struck both of them down Now it is Tilden who will not submit to Hayes, and behind both is the spectre of Grant It is my opinion that Grant could be defeated by votes, but who could trust his nature backed by the war spirit of the north both excited by a campaign where every flag and drum would declaim "Tramp tramp the boys are marching" The Republicans who now say they would not vote for Grant do not know how they would vote in 1880 Fear alone of Grant's resisting the election of his competitor and usurping the state would drive a million anti-Grant men into voting for him so as to preserve the republic

The Democratic party was in prospect of an easy presidential victory Why has it invited the apprehensions of all including Hayes himself and threatened us again with the man on horseback? because Mr Samuel J Tilden, afraid he will not be renominated in 1880, is keeping alive the dangerous topic of his defraudal, so called He is keeping it up by spending money on incendiary newspapers These incendiary newspapers have scared the Democratic congress into investigating Hayes claim That has set the devil loose There is now no logic in the method of political events, and I should not wonder if the next ticket of one party in this country would be Grant and Aleck Stephens and be supported by all the war men of the north and all the peace men of the south

The night the finding of the electoral tribunal's return on the presidency was made, Blackburn, of Kentucky, made a speech, and said that the act would be "rebaptized in blood" He is of no consequence, but [illegible] Randall has put him on this dangerous committee of disturbance Thus our peace our growing concord, our property concerns [illegible] lives, are all threatened because congress cannot abide its own agreement Will the Democracy nominate Mr Tilden in 1880 when his ambition is so indifferent to the life of the nation?

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, June 10 1878

Gold in New York, 101.

Legal tenders in Portland—buying [illegible], selling par

Silver coin, 2@3 per cent discount.

There is some improvement in the demand for loans, and rates, though not advanced, show the effect of the increased call The amount offering by outside parties is lighter, while the supply at the usual depositories of capital is still large There is an evident disposition to [illegible] and resources in the belief that the movement of the heavy crops now promised will greatly enhance the requirements upon the funds available for that purpose, and perhaps somewhat advance rates for ready money The present condition of the money market however is one of a fair degree of ease and borrowers who proffer the required securities have no trouble to obtain all needed accommodation at the ruling rate of 10@12 per cent per annum.

General trade matters are moving along about as usual at this season of the year, merchants in a wholesale business feeling quite well satisfied with the spring's work so far The movement in some lines of goods has far exceeded that of former years and buyers of all classes have ordered largely, a very considerable portion of the pull coming from sections hitherto patronizing Portland merchants only to a limited extent In fact taking into consideration the dullness of which we constantly read in exchanges from California and the east, the city and state have reason to be satisfied with the business condition

Wool.

Buyers of this staple in this city are operating very slowly and cautiously at present and many instances occur in which fair lots are declined on account of the difference in the views of buyers and growers. The quantity coming forward is much increased and is generally of good quality and packed quite as well as heretofore and but for the discouraging tenor of advices from the markets of consumption, trade would be very active here just now. But buyers say that the few instances mentioned in advices from the east, in which parcels have been placed at a loss of from 6 to 10 cents per pound, are only single illustrations of what has resulted in a great majority of the transactions in Pacific coast wools in the markets of New York Boston and Philadelphia of late. Growers now must market their product in the best possible shape to place it to advantage and then inferior grades must submit to a price that leaves but little margin if transportation either is expensive Prices remain about as last week, with a depressed tone to the market

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest by an entirely new system only known to himself Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea Seminal Weakness or premature Loss of Manhood In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States Diseases of the stomach bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This accounts in part for this great professional success

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who can not well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

Everything strictly confidential and honorable

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify
